

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

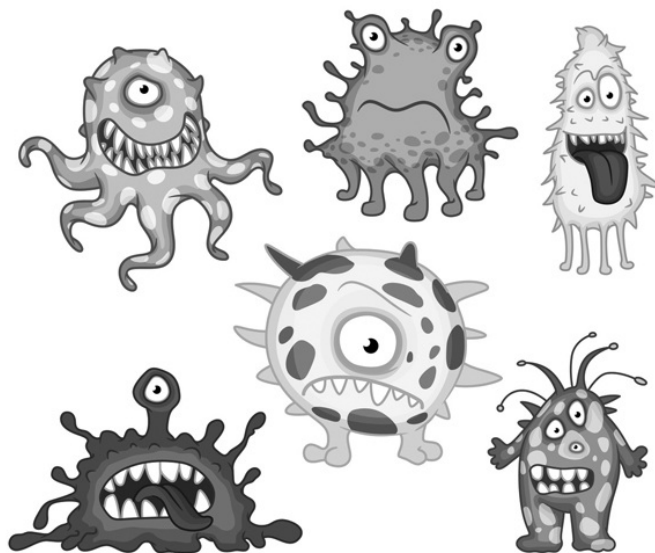

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Writing Spot: Hello? Is there anybody out there?

Learning Outcome

I Identify and describe issues relating to money, in written and spoken situations according to work and social contexts.

Ask your partner:

- Do you or any of your family believe in people from outer space?
- Would you want to travel into space? Why? Why not?

Can Do Statements

- I can write about coincidences, strange events or superstitions.
- I can write about things that happened or have happened.
- I can write about things that have happened, or things that have been happening.

Let's Explore!

Can you see a faint green light deep in the woods? Faceless extraterrestrial* figures have arrived from outer space to take you with them.

* "Faint" means something that lacks brightness.

 "Outer space" means the universe beyond the earth's atmosphere.

 "Extraterrestrial" means beyond planet Earth.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

The wind was blowing and dark clouds were gathered in the sky. All down the street, people were darting under umbrellas. Some were running into their homes for shelter. Milly sat in her rocking chair by the living room window. "Today is the day they are coming. It has been a long time," she thought to herself.

She slowly got up from the rocking chair. Her bones ached. "It has been getting harder to get around these days", she thought to herself. She went to her bedroom. A bag filled with the things that she needed for the trip was sitting in the corner. Milly took off her slippers and put on a comfortable pair of shoes. "Who knows if there will be comfortable shoes where she's going?" Milly said to herself. "I have been anticipating this day for 75 years, ever since the first visitors came."

Milly picked up her bag and took one more look at her house. Everything was just as it's always been. She wanted people to find her house neat and clean when they arrived to her house and realized that she was gone. Milly felt the excitement rise in her stomach. She left her house and closed the door behind her. "This little house has suited me perfectly", she whispered to herself as she locked the door. "The day has finally come, and I am prepared for whatever awaits me." Milly began walking down the steep, winding path towards a faint green light in the woods. Out of nowhere, she saw faceless figures approaching her. "Are you concerned about the trip?", they muttered simultaneously. "I have been thinking of this incredible journey since I was a girl", she replied.

Let's Practice!

The day has finally come ...

Instructions: Read the sentences below and circle the incorrect words.

- 1) The day was finally come, and I am prepared.
- 2) It has been get hard to get around these days.
- 3) I has been anticipated this day for 75 years, ever since the first visitors came.
- 4) I has think of this incredible journey since I was a girl.
- 5) I have waist for this day all my life."

Let's Practice!

Imagine you write fictional stories for a living. You enjoy writing about people from outer space.

Instructions: Write a 150-170 word narrative about a coincidence or strange event.

Choose characters, a setting, a plot and a conclusion.

You should structure your narrative to have a series of events. What happens first? Second?

Use rich descriptions to make your writing interesting.

Write about a past actions, actions that began in the past that is connected to the present in some way and actions that have been repeated over a long time. (the grammar tenses you have been learning in this learning object)

Use simple, compound and complex sentences.

Extension Activity

Find out about a close encounter.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Look online or go to the library to find out about close encounters with aliens or alien space crafts in your country.
- Read (or listen to) 5 encounters.
- Write up a short summary for each one.
- Read your summaries to another student.
- Discuss your ideas on what you have presented.

Self-Assessment

Yes No

I write about strange events and close encounters.

☐ ☐

I talk about things that happened or have happened.

☐ ☐

I share my writing with a partner and discuss my ideas on the events.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- shelter (noun): protection
e.g. Some were running into their homes for shelter.
- rocking chair (noun): a chair mounted on rockers or springs
e.g. Milly sat in her rocking chair by the living room window.
- to whisper (verb): to speak or say with a soft voice
e.g. She whispered to herself as she locked the door.
- to ache (verb): to hurt
e.g. Her bones ached.
- to dart (verb): to move quickly
e.g. People were darting under umbrellas.
- to mutter (verb): to murmur
e.g. They muttered simultaneously.
- simultaneously (adverb): to occur at the same time
e.g. They muttered simultaneously.

Learning Points

Present Perfect vs. Past Simple

You use the Present Perfect:

- For something that started in the past and continues in the present.

Example:

They have been in that house for a long time.

- For something that has been done several times.

Example:

We have been to that city four times!

- For experiences up to the present.

Example:

This is the best birthday party she has ever had!

- For something that happened in the past but is relevant at the time of speaking.

Example:

She can't present the project. She has lost her computer.

- For referring to a time that is not yet finished.

Example:

Have you drunk any water today?

You use the Simple Past:

- For something that was finished at a certain period of time.

Example:

Dr. Smith finished the surgery 3 hours ago.

Examples:

- Simple Past tense
- Milly sat in her rocking chair by the living room window.
- Milly picked up her bag and took one more look at her house.
- She wanted people to find her house neat and clean when they arrived to her house.
- Present Perfect tense
- This little house has suited me perfectly.
- The day has finally come, and I am prepared for whatever awaits me.
- Are you concerned about the trip?

Learning Points

Present Perfect Continuous tense vs. Present Perfect tense

You use the Present Perfect tense to talk about a past action or an action that began in the past that is connected to the present in some way.

You can use the Present Perfect tense to talk about experiences.

When you use the Present Perfect tense, you think about the past and present together.

What happened in the past is still related to what is happening now.

To emphasize the result of the action, use the simple form.

- Has anyone called the police about the green light in the woods?

You use Present Perfect Continuous tense to describe:

- an activity that continues for a long time
- an activity or action that is repeated over time

These continue up to the present. You can use the Present Perfect Continuous tense when a long-continuing activity has just stopped.

To emphasize the action, use the continuous form.

- What have the other people in the town been doing?

Examples:

- Present Perfect tense
 - This little house has suited me perfectly.
 - The day has finally come, and I am prepared for whatever awaits me.
 - Are you concerned about the trip?
- Present Perfect Continuous tense
 - I have been anticipating this day for 75 years.
 - It has been getting harder to get around these days.
 - I have been thinking of this incredible journey since I was a girl.

