Let's Start!

Texting friends is fun!

Learning Outcome

Relate information about problems.

Ask your partner:

- What interesting stories or events have you texted to a friend?
- Do you think text messaging has improved communication? Why?

Can Do Statements

- I can discuss coincidences, strange events or superstitions.
- I can talk about things that happened or have happened.
- I can talk about things that have happened, or things that have been happening.

Let's Explore!

They're shooting an action movie!

* When you make a film, you "shoot" it.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Tanya and James text ...

- Tanya: A strange young woman came into the coffee shop. She looks like she's been through a war! Her hair is a mess and her jeans are torn. She has been sitting near me for a few minutes now drinking coffee. She's just been staring into space.
- James: Has she been mugged? Is she in shock? Has anyone called the police? What have the other people in the cafe been doing?
- Tanya: Everyone here has been ignoring her - like it's normal. She's covered in mud. How could that have happened? It hasn't been raining. The streets are dry!
- James: Have you tried to talk to her? If she hasn't been calling anyone herself maybe she's lost her phone!
- Tanya: Going over there now ... lol
- James: ???
- Tanya: You won't believe it! I said I didn't mean to be nosy, but she looked like she's had a really bad day. Did she need help? She looked up at me and laughed. I recognized her immediately and felt so stupid!!!! It was Nadia Travenski!
- James: NO WAY!
- Tanya: They're shooting an action movie in the building next door. She thought she would just hide out in here for a little break. She thanked me for my concern. When she finished, she paid her bill and mine.
- James: Did you get her autograph?
- Tanya: She's just come in again with the director ... going to be an extra in the next scene!!!! Later ...

Let's Practice!

Is there something wrong with that young woman?

☐ ☐

Target Words

- to stare into space (expression): to look at nowhere
e.g. She's just been staring into space.
- to be mugged (expression): to be robbed of your personal belongings
e.g. Has she been mugged?
- to be in shock (expression): to be deeply surprised and troubled by a sudden event e.g. Is she in shock?
- mud (expression): wet, soft earth
e.g. She's covered in mud.
- to ignore (verb): to actively not notice or recognize e.g. Everyone here has been ignoring her - like it's normal.
- nosy (adjective): overly curious
e.g. I said I didn't mean to be nosy.
- to recognize someone (expression): to realize that someone is famous e.g. I recognized her immediately and felt so stupid!!!
- autograph (noun): a person's signature
e.g. Did you get her autograph?

Learning Points

Present Perfect vs. Past Simple

You use the Present Perfect:

- For something that began in the past and continues into the present time.

Example:

I have learned a lot in this class.

- For something that has been done several times.

Example:

She has called her mom many times.

- For experiences up to the present.

Example:

This is the worst day we've ever had.

- For something that happened in the past but is relevant at the time of speaking.

Example:

I can't call her. I've lost my cellphone.

- For referring to a time that is not yet finished.

Example:

Have you played the guitar this week?

You use the Simple Past:

- For something that finished at a specific time in the past.

Example:

I wrote that letter two weeks ago.

If you can answer the question 'When?', the past time is stated or inferred or understood. Use the Past Simple. There is no connection to the present.

If you cannot answer the question 'When?', because the time is not stated or not important, then choose the Present Perfect tense. There is instead a connection to the present.

Sentence	When?
When she finished, she paid her bill and mine.	when she finished (her coffee)
She's just come in again with the director ...	from the time she left to now

Examples:

- A strange young woman came into the coffee shop.
- She looks like she's been through a war!

Learning Points

- I didn't mean to be nosy, but she looked like she's had a really bad day.
- Did she need help?

Present Perfect Continuous vs Present Perfect

You use the Present Perfect tense to talk about a past action or an action that began in the past that is connected to the present in some way.

You can use the Present Perfect tense to talk about experiences. When you use the Present Perfect tense, you think about the past and present together. There is some connection between what happened in the past and now.

To put emphasis on the result of the action, use the Present Perfect.

- Has anyone called the police?

You use Present Perfect Continuous tense to describe:

- an activity that continues for a long time
- an action that is repeated for a longer period of time

These continue up to the present. You can use the Present Perfect Continuous tense when a long-continuing activity has just ended.

To put emphasis on the action, use the Present Perfect Continuous.

- What have the other people in the cafe been doing?

Sentence	Meaning
She's just been staring into space.	She is spending a long time doing this. The focus is on staring .
Has she been mugged? Is she in shock?	What happened before this sometime?

Examples:

- Everyone here has been ignoring her - like it's normal.
- She's covered in mud. How could that have happened?
- It hasn't been raining.
